The North Dakota Department of Public Instruction Title I Office is seeking Parental Involvement Trainers

Bismarck, North Dakota – North Dakota State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Wayne G. Sanstead, has announced the Department of Public Instruction, Title I office is seeking individuals to serve as Statewide Parental Involvement Trainers.

The state Title I office in collaboration with North Dakota Parental Information Resource Center (NDPIRC) is offering a unique opportunity to promote parental involvement and engage Title I schools, families, and the community to learn and participate in the education of children in Title I schools of North Dakota.

The trainer application is available for download on the Department of Public Instruction website at www.dpi.state.nd.us/title1/targeted/require/parent/index.shtm. The application calls for educational background and experience, references, and proposal abstract information. Also available on the department website is the Title I Parental Involvement Training Scope of Services.

Applications must be received no later than 4:00 p.m. on Tuesday, March 23, 2011. For additional information, contact Stefanie Two Crow, Assistant Director, at (701) 328-2292 or sttwocrow@nd.gov.
